

PARK MANOR QUAIL VALLEY SUCCESS STORY

Mr. G. was recently admitted to Park Manor of Quail Valley for short-term rehab to home. He was classified as a maximum assist in activities of daily living (ADLs). He had previously had an acute episode linked to end-stage renal disease diagnosis, coupled with generalized weakness, and overall functional decline.

With the help and encouragement of our nursing team and therapy team, Mr. G. was able to make significant improvements during speech, occupational and physical therapy, which led to increased strength, balance, gait training, and self-care.

With persistence, courage, and overall dedication to his personal health goals, Mr. G. can now sit at edge of his bed and stand with a rolling walker needing minimum to zero assistance. He is also now transferring from bed to wheelchair needing minimum assistance and ambulating with rolling walker.

Congratulations on your therapy success!
